International Day, 2011

For International Day, our Korean performance was singing and dancing. I participated only in the singing. We sang two kinds of "Arirang." These songs were original versions and "Kang-Wan-Do Arirang." It has an active rhythm, so students from other countries and teachers danced together. After all of the performances were finished, I supplied traditional Korean food to the other students.

On that day, my favorite part of the events was the display of traditional things from many countries. I saw many beautiful things. I liked them because collecting traditional things from many countries is my hobby. So I was very happy at that time.

It was my third time participating in International Day since 2008. I remember that the first time was a very big event because many students were at this school that year, and they enjoyed International Day with other people, including friends and family. But this year the event was very special, too.
